

THE GREYHOUND

PUBLISHED BI-WEEKLY BY THE STUDENTS OF LOYOLA COLLEGE

Vol. VIII

TUESDAY, JANUARY 15, 1935

No. 7

FRESHMAN HOP TO BE HELD ON INTER-SEMESTER HOLIDAY IN NEW BALLROOM OF STAFFORD HOTEL

WALTER ROUSTON'S MUSIC Hall Recently Decorated In Blue and Cream Color Scheme

With various committees completed and definite plans made, the Freshman Class will hold its annual Hop on February the first, in the ballroom of the Stafford Hotel. Walter Rouston's Orchestra will furnish the music. The price of the dance, a semi-formal affair, will be $1.65, including tax.

The Stafford, located at Charles and Madison Streets, has been entirely renovated and is furnished in an ultra-modern manner. The dance floor is large and spacious, finished in blue and cream decorations, and is equipped with indirect lighting effects.

Ideal Location

The Freshman Class is following the example of the Sophomore Class in choosing a location that is novel, as far as Loyola social affairs go. In selecting Rouston's Orchestra the Freshmen have also

(Continued on Page 6, Col. 4)

Second Library Dance Held During Christmas Holidays

The second Interclass Dance took the form of a scholastic Yuletide celebration, being staged in the Library on the day after Christmas. Jim Bradley's Marylanders supplied the melodic interludes as Loyola students and their friends danced in the bibliothecal ball-room.

By means of coloring the center lighting fixtures, a different illumination effect was achieved than that which prevailed at the first interclass affair. The new Loyola banner was proudly displayed in a fitting manner by being placed over the central entrance.

(Continued on Page 3, Col. 1)

CONDOLIENCES

The Faculty and Student Body wish to express their condolences to Joseph J. Mack, '37, and to his family, upon the recent death of his father. Mr. Mack is the Advertising Manager of the Greyhound.

We also wish to extend our sympathies to Bernard B. Hoffman, whose father died on Christmas Eve.

Seniors Make Definite Plans For 1935 College Year Book

Annual Will Be Dedicated To
Father Joseph Ayd, S.J.,
Of College Faculty

Plans for the 1935 Year Book are now taking definite shape. The Annual will be dedicated to Father Joseph J. Ayd, S.J., of the college faculty. The financial arrangements which always play such an important part in these enterprises are progressing nicely. Senior pictures and those of the underclass officers have been taken and the group pictures of the lower classes, clubs and teams will be taken in near future.

Dedicated

Father Ayd in his position as Professor of Sociology has had intimate contact with the

(Continued on Page 4, Col. 1)

ATHLETIC COUNCIL PLANS FOR INTRAMURAL COURT COMPETITION

PLAY BEGINS THIS WEEK

The Student Intramural Athletic Council has announced that play in the intramural league will begin this week. Each class is allowed to place as many teams composed of eight players as it wishes into competition.

Defending Champs

The present Senior class will have the same team back which won the championship play-off last year, as well as several other teams. The defending championship team will be composed of Stallo, Roesser, Cummings, O'Hare, Cunningham, Kammer and Wright. Stern competition will be furnished the champs by the Freshman team which has made a good record so far against local high schools in games preliminary to the Varsity contests. The Sophs and Juniors, not to be outdone, are also mustering their strongest arrays to gain the coveted intra-mural laurels.

Rules for the games will be posted as soon as competition begins. Most of the contests will be arranged to start at 2.45 P. M. Any team not appearing fifteen minutes after scheduled game time will forfeit that game. In order to further the idea that

(Continued on Page 5, Col. 3)

FORMER EDITOR

ROGER E. LEWIS, JR., '35

FIRST EVERGREEN 'GRADS' MEET AGAIN AT COLLEGE

TEACHERS PRESENT

Sixteen members of the class of 1922, the first class to graduate from Evergreen, held a reunion in the cafeteria of the college recently. The dinner was a affair and there were decorations to lend cheerfulness to the first "get-together" the class has had since graduation.

Eight Priests

It was revealed that eight of the sixteen graduates had entered the priesthood, five in the Society of Jesus, three in the secular clergy. Besides being the first class to graduate from Evergreen, the class of '22 also set many other

(Continued on Page 4, Col. 3)

Calendar

- Jan. 15—Chem. Lecture. Dr. R. M. McKinney, Ph.D., on "Chemical Problems in Pigment Manufacture."
- Jan. 16—Basketball. Mt. St. Mary's, at Emmitsburg.
- Jan. 19—Basketball. Hopkins at home.
- Jan. 21—Mid-Year Exams start.
- Jan. 26—Basketball. Washington College at home.
- Jan. 31—Mid-Year Exams end.
- Feb. 1—Inter-semester Holiday. Freshman Hop, at the Stafford, with Walter Rouston.
- Feb. 2—Basketball. Western Maryland, at home.
- Feb. 4—Chemistry Seminar.

EUGENE F. JENDREK SUCCEEDS ROGER E. LEWIS AS EDITOR-IN-CHIEF OF COLLEGE PUBLICATION

Dean O'Malley To Test Dramatic Ability Of Aspiring Thespians

Talent Displayed In Tryouts Will Determine The Future Of Dramatics At Loyola

Previous issues of the Greyhound voiced quite an extensive appeal for dramatics at Loyola. The request did not go unheeded,—Dean O'Malley posted a list of prospective enthusiasts who were given speeches from Shakespeare's Julius Caesar to prepare for a tryout. This action was taken just before the Christmas holidays, and the tryouts will take place before the beginning of the mid-year exams. The results of these will definitely determine the future of dramatic activity at Loyola College.

The thespians are very hopeful and promise interest.

(Continued on Page 6, Col. 5)

S. D'AMBROGIO DELIVERS LECTURE BEFORE MENDEL CLUB MEETING

LECTURE CONCERNS BLOOD

"We read in the old romances that when a man sold his soul to the Powers of Darkness, it was customary for him to sign the agreement with his blood. In this way presumably, he left upon the paper something that was a characteristic part of himself, and so made the contract more binding this belief that an individual is in some special way represented by his blood has found scientific support in recent years."

So stated Mr. Giulio D. D'Ambrogi, '35, speaking on "Blood," at the meeting of the Mendel Club held on Jan. 10.

Primitive Beliefs

He began his lecture with a survey of the primitive beliefs regarding the nature and function of blood.

"Whether or not man knew of its chemical functions he certainly knew that it was a life-giving fluid flowing within his body. The Bible makes this evident by its many narrations of the blood sacrifices of old."

The speaker then told how the circulatory system is designed to carry the blood throughout the body, "The circulatory system is the mechanism that attends to the needful transportation of

(Continued on Page 3, Col. 1)

MULLEN MANAGING EDITOR

Emory, Dinan, And McGonigle To Write Columns; Cichelli Is Sports Editor

Eugene F. Jendrek has been named Editor-in-Chief of the Greyhound to succeed Roger E. Lewis. This was one of the many changes, effective with this issue, announced by Mr. Joseph Kelley, S.J., Literary Moderator of the paper. The new Editor has served for two years on the staff as an Associate and later Managing Editors.

Lawrence T. Mullen will become Managing Editor, succeeding Mr. Jendrek at that post. Mr. Mullen formerly handled the Alumni Chatter.

Numerous Changes

As foreshadowed in the Christmas issue by the withdrawal of the Senior members from the staff to start work on their annual, numerous changes have been made. Andrew Cichelli is the new Sports Editor, taking over the duties of Frank Wright. Joseph Mack remains

(Continued on Page 6, Col. 1)

Meeting of Chemistry Seminar Outlines Schedule of Speakers

At a meeting of the Chemistry Seminar held on Jan. 9, the schedule of the lectures to be given by the members was mapped out. The meetings will be held in the Chemistry Lecture room on Tuesdays at 10.00 A. M., two speakers appearing on each date. The schedule follows:

February 4—

"The Colorimetric Determination of Ph Constants."—Edward M. Hanzely, '36.

"Oils", William H. Kammer, '35.

February 25—

"Tungsten," John C. Osborne, '37.

(Continued on Page 6, Col. 3)

All those interested in joining the Advertising Staff of the Greyhound are requested to meet in Room 212 of the Science Building at 12:10 on Wednesday, January 16.

A TEN PERCENT commission will be paid to those securing ads.

THE GREYHOUND

LOYOLA COLLEGE

Vol. VIII Baltimore, Maryland No. 7

Editor-in-Chief

EUGENE F. JENDREK, '36

Managing Editor

LAWRENCE T. MULLEN, '37

Sports Editor

ANDREW E. CICHELLI, '36

Circulation Manager

FRANCIS B. EASTMAN, JR., '36

Advertising Manager

JOSEPH J. MACK, '37

Associate Editors

PHILIP L. DOUGHERTY, '37

JOHN O. HERMANN, '37

Departments

JOHN J. DINAN, '36

WILLIAM D. MCGONIGLE, '37

THOMAS J. EMORY, '37

News Staff

F. KENNARD DILL, '36

RICHARD T. CAREY, '38

ROBERT B. MACUIRE, '36

CHARLES FISHER, '38

WILLIAM J. O'DONNELL, '37

PHILIP MCGREEVY, '38

Published Bi-Weekly

Subscription $2.00

The Staff Changes

As announced in the Christmas issue, the Senior members of the Greyhound Staff have withdrawn to start work on the Green and Gray, and this edition marks the maiden effort of their successors.

The average student, in looking upon the columns which were mainly the work of our predecessors, cannot realize the amount of effort expended from the time assignments are conceived until the printed page is in his hand to read. Taking into comparison other college publications of similar nature and considering the limitations necessarily imposed, they have done much for the Greyhound and their work is deserving of highest praise.

At the outset, to get our ideas straight, it might be of general interest to call attention to the following quotation from the College catalog in reference to the Greyhound: "Its aims are dual. It seeks to chronicle the activities of the College in all fields, for a chronicle serves to sustain interests in student activities. Its second aim is to offer Loyola students an opportunity at literary self-expression and business direction."

In chronicling the news of the College the Greyhound cannot carry stories of immediate interest, as a daily paper does, for the very simple reason that events will not happen in every fortnight on the day before we go to press. It always has been, and will be, the policy of the Greyhound to give collegiate activities the benefit of its columns in the order of their importance and interest. The number of extra-curricular activities and their participants gives evident proof that interest has been sustained and furthered in them.

With respect to the other aim of the Greyhound, offering students an opportunity at literary self-expression and business direction, there is much to be said. It is our desire to keep this paper on a high literary plane. It is also a true but lamentable fact that the Greyhound does not have all the better writers of the school on its staff for the reason that they are not interested. This does not imply criticism in any way of the present staff which is the most loyal an editor could ask for. But we would like to have others write or express their opinions in our columns, either as staff members or more particularly in letters to the editor. Those who have any opinions to express are earnestly requested to make use of the Greyhound's open forum. We would also like to state that we are willing to publish poems, stories or essays which are of general interest and literary merit. By these means we hope to make the Greyhound of concern and interest to all while avoiding that staid triteness which is anathema to any live publication.

In the process of getting things off our chest we finally come to the business end of the Greyhound. Anyone cognizant with publishing knows that it is the advertising that makes the existence of a paper of this sort possible. The quality and quantity of the ads is dependent upon the circulation guaranteed and this in turn is entirely contingent with its saleable interest to readers.

Thus, as stated above, our primary aim will be to make the paper of genuine personal interest to students, alumni and friends of Loyola. A regular business staff will be organized to secure the type of advertising which the Greyhound deserves. When these two phases are taken care of satisfactorily, the circulation will take care of itself.

Campus Clippings

J. J. D.

IN MEMORIAM

From our midst they have gone. No longer the sound of their voices nor the tap of their typewriters will be heard. Into that oblivion from which there is no return, our esteemed friends have departed. Though the fates had destined that they were sure to leave in the end, the parting seemed to have come before their time of service had expired. They are buried in the grave they have fashioned for themselves and over them press heavily the thousands of words they have penned. Their co-workers of the 'Hound staff bid them a final good-bye as they closed the door in leaving. Then a Yip-pee—Cheer—and a Huzzah or two—the Seniors had left the staff.—R. I. P.

* * *

With this issue, practically an entire new staff comes into control of the Greyhound. Your Clipper is one of the newcomers and to start off on the right foot, these resolutions are hereby adopted:

Never to use (Ed. note) to make a quip or pun out of an otherwise humorless phrase or story.

Never to fill in the Clipper Column with jokes made at the expense of the Evergreen Reflector.

Never to print jokes that are over ten days old (an innovation in this column).

Never to get mogigraphia. News Items:—

An up-and-coming freshman volunteers the suggestion that since the College has gone in for sponsoring dances in a big way, a Terpsichorean Class should be added to the curriculum.

Cunningham, Feeney and Farley were reported having been seen window-shopping at a local jeweler's before the holidays.

The new G. M. * Club is happy to report that new members have been won to its ranks. Dr. Klotzman was chosen honorary vice-president at their last meeting; the minutes revealed Shea has broken the solemn oath and had his misplaced eyebrow trimmed.

*Greater Mustache.

* * *

The mystery of the hour: What's hidden under Charles Treppe's scarf?

* * *

"Most every man has one or several silly phobias that make him appear an old grump. An outstanding one of mine is: Having a thread or an other particle of lint picked off my clothing by another."—B. B.

Evergreen Reflections

T. J. E.

The Collegiate Resolutionist

He begins to think of New Year's resolutions about Dec. 1. He runs through a long list of things he does or doesn't do, as the case may be, and tries to pick an even ten he might possibly keep as New Year's resolutions. He asks the advice of his teacher—and gets it. Then Mother and Dad are invited to offer any suggestions,—and they do. Of course this rarely happens any more. But it used to be an annual occurrence when Mother was a little girl and had a small brother. But you know how some fellows are nowadays. What? You're a fella' yourself, heh? Well then, I beg your pardon. No offense meant. I was thinking about some of my "nize frands." (You have to hold your nose to get the right accent of those last two words in the preceeding sentence). But—yes, I know we are digressing. However the dawn of Dec. 31 rolls around and he still is undecided. By noon he is in a quandary; by nightfall he is in a muddle; about eleven o'clock he decides to get down to brass tacks so he sits on Mother's hair sofa. Slowly he tears his list into small pieces. One resolve is written on each paper. Altogether there are about twenty-five. Now for the climax—you guessed it. He takes Father's hat and drops the paper in. No he doesn't shake it. He passes the hat around to Mother and Dad and his little sister Leontine.—How d'ya like that Mac? Is that the way you spell it?—Each one draws three resolutions out of the hat. He of course takes the tenth and final one. "He would—just when I'm thirsty." (Quoting Blair).

Here are the resolutions. I bet if you look in the wastebasket you will find that many of yours are similar to these:

- 1) I resolve to study hard, or harder anyway. But first I resolve to study.
- 2) I resolve not to go out any more if I don't get invited—at least not without inviting myself. (Be careful Fritz—Joe—Vernon, whatever your name is.)
- 3) I resolve to stay away from girls. They don't seem to like me. But on the other hand I better not. They can't ALL like me!
- 4) I resolve to smoke more, but to buy less cigarettes. How? Chisel them!
- 5) I resolve to stay home if I don't go out.
- 6) I resolve to clean Dad's car every week—if he will pay me.
- 7) I resolve to help Mother more by taking care of Rosemary—P. S. I'm slipping. It should be Leontine, sez you.
- 8) I resolve to ease the teacher's care-burdened mind. Teachers get that way. No more homework for me.
- 9) I resolve to be indifferent to the jibes of my friends YAS you!
- 10) I resolve to quit joking. No one laughs anymore. There must still be a depression, for the jokes are good. Oh yeah!

And so it goes on from one year to another and never a resolution without an appendix or an appendage or at least something appended which makes every resolve null and void. Time is wasted. Good time too, eh Charley?—which might easily be used in attempting to improve this column.

Ho-hum! It is getting late. I just heard the bats strike twelve in the belfry. I'm going to bed, but before I retire let me correct an erroneous opinion of the word, "column." A column is often called a pillar or vice-versa, but if you call writing this column a pillar you are dead wrong for there is nothing soft about writing it at all. I'm going to prove it by sleeping on a pillar.

THEY ARE LIKE THAT

1

Now listen dear,
I still adhere
That women shouldn't smoke.

2

So don't you do it
Or you'll rue it
For I shall start to choke.

3

She smiled at him—
To spite his whim
She lit a cigarette.

4

Her throat's still sore
She'll smoke no more
At least not soon, I'll bet.

Out in Chicago a goldfish was found with a red cross on its back. The workmen who found it called it a freak. We also find those little red marks on our blue-books, but they are anything but freaks, since they occur after every test.

A. M.
9:30-11:30	Senior	Physical Chemistry	Room 207	Sc.	Mr. Polly
	Sophomore	Inorganic Chemistry	Room 210	Sc.	Father Schmitt
		Inorganic Chemistry	Room 207	Sc.	Mr. Polly
	Freshman	Inorganic Chemistry	Room 210	Sc.	Father Schmitt
		Inorganic Chemistry	Room 207	Sc.	Mr. Polly

Alumni Doings

W. D. McG.

Since the last issue of the Greyhound. Christmas and New Years have come and gone, the staff has been changed, and this is the first Alumni column of the new year by the new editor. Last of all, but not least (we like to keep the best things till last) many things have taken place in the lives of those that have departed, as students, from these portals forever.

Walt Dunne and Joe Morisi, former stars on the Greyhound eleven, have not lost interest in football. During the football season, they played on Sunday for the Irvington semi-pro team.

Honor has come to another member of the same class. Al Petersam was recently elected President of St. Catherine's Holy Name Society.

Best of luck, Al, keep up the good work.

Those living in the Waverly section of the city may be interested to know that Leo Schuppert, class of '34, is employed by the Wagner Grocery Co.

Down the Aisle

Wedding bells have been ringing for two members of the Alumni. Bill Nahm, class of '33, married Miss Dorothy Jones at Sts. Philip and James Catholic Church, on Saturday, December 1st. Though we are a little late, Bill, Congratulations!

Another wedding of an alumnus that took place recently was that of Tony Azzarello, class of '34, and former guard on the Evergreen eleven. He was married to Miss Josephine Mary Pittarra, at St. Ambrose Catholic Church, on Sunday, January 6th, 1935. Best of luck, Tony!

Chess Champ

Dr. Frank DiPaula, class of '22, an ardent chess fan, gave an exhibition of his ability when he engaged in a chess meet recently with members of the Loyola Chess Club.

Since they are well represented in the educational and business worlds, the alumni are not to be outdone in political life.

When State's Attorney J. Bernard Wells, '04, selected the new members of his staff, George L. Lochboehler, '27, was one of those appointed assistant State's Attorney.

* * *

Herbert R. O'Connor, '17, Attorney-General of Maryland, was recently inducted into that office. Congratulations to Mr. O'Connor, Mr. Wells, and Mr. Lochboehler!

* * *

Flash! Certain members of the Alumni have expressed a desire for an Alumni Sodality, and plans are afoot to start its organization. Since this is the first announcement in this column, and plans are not definite, we hope to have more news about this in the next issue.

* * *

Going about here and there among last year's graduates we learned that:

George Waidner, former captain of the varsity football squad, is now employed by the Service Department of Swift and Company.

Joe Stann is employed by the local office of the Felt and Tarrant Comptometer Co.

Edgar Steffee is working with his father in Philadelphia.

Another note: Congratulations are in order for John Kohlhepp, '31, who recently became the proud father of a son.

By the way, Mr. Kohlhepp is employed by the Federal Tin Co., and Bill Foard, ex '36, is his assistant.

has also decided to run a series of card parties and dances in the succeeding months to aid in securing the requisite funds to insure the success of their venture.

Pictures Taken

Proofs of Senior pictures have just been returned. The group pictures will be taken the latter part of this month if present plans work out. As these pictures must be taken out of doors the editor is hoping for some show of cooperation on the part of the weather man.

Cribbings

"Onions are found to send out ultra-violet rays, says a science note. To say nothing of ultra-violent odors."—C. B.

FIRST 'GROSS' OF EVERGREEN MEET IN REUNION AT COLLEGE

TEACHERS PRESENT

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 3) records. Four of its members starred on the Greyhound basketball team, and other members of the class brought fame to Loyola on the tennis court.

Among the members of the class now in religious orders, there were present: Father Roger J. Blankford, S.J., Arthur A. Coniff, S.J.; John J. Coniff, S.J., two members of this year's ordination class of Woodstock College: Rev. Mr. Kenneth L. Graham, S.J., and Rev. Mr. Edward A. Kerr, S.J.

Members of the secular clergy present: Revs. J. Jennings Clark, Joseph M. Nelligan, and William J. Sweeney.

Versatile Class

This class was a versatile one, for its members were well represented in the business and professional world. Those that make up this group are: Dr. Frank DiPaula, C. Ferd Sybert, Robert A. Collahan, Paul Menton, R. Emmett Bradley, Clarence J. Caulfield, Thomas J. Martin, Taylor Bouchelle, and Carroll A. Read.

The Rev. Joseph A. Canning, S.J., Rector, was guest of honor, and the Revs. Henry W. McLoughlin, S.J., Joseph J. Ayg, S.J., Thomas J. Loye, S.J., and Joseph M. Kelly, S.J., former teachers of the class were present to meet again and talk over old times with their former pupils.

SHORT SHOTS

Most students are not aware that "Ace" Knight, the voice of one Thirsting in the Wilderness, who can now slake his thirst at the new fountains specially placed in the gym for his convenience, has brought to the Greyhound quint this year that dashing brand of play that he learned while playing for Miss Crosby's Catonsville Kindergarten team. Jules is one of the prominent alumni of the Catonsville school.

* * *

C. E. (Belair) Kelly who is one of Harford County's premier distance runners was recently quoted as claiming that he walked from Evergreen to Charles and Baltimore Streets in twenty minutes. He gave as an excuse for his slowness the fact that he hit too many red traffic lights. Maybe Loyola has some talent that will do well for developing for the 1936 Olympics. (Editor: how about a candidacy in Lowell Thomas' Tall Story Club).

On Dec. 29, Dr. Dipaula and Mr. Quinn, both outstanding chess experts in this city, played tandem the members of the Loyola College Chess Club.

The results of this meet were surprising. Out of the fifteen players present, Mr. Cichelli, who played two games, won one and lost one. Mr. Wisniewski also won and lost one. Mr. Cooper, who played but one game obtained a draw from these two formidable masters. These three students deserve to be congratulated on their victories over Mr. Quinn and Dr. Dipaula.

* * *

At last the tournament is under way and tension is running high. All those who can play the game of Kings, Queens, and Pawns are to be seen in the Rec Room pondering over the intricacies of the royal sport.

The first round of the Third Annual Tournament has just been completed; and those who have emerged unscathed are in high spirits, but are awaiting with anxiety the next round.

HERE AND THERE

Santa Clarans are annoyed with the freshmen of that institution. They aren't making enough noise.

—The freshmen are finally showing some sense.

It is a common belief that the average university student has acquired more than the average amount of knowledge for a person his age. This is particularly true of juniors and seniors. — The Daily Athenaeum.

Cheer up, Pups and Sophs.

There are now over 400 bicycles at Smith College at Northampton, Mass. They have become such a menace that the student government association is formulating special traffic rules. — The American Campus.

At a New England school the sophomores were caught hazing a youthful-looking teacher, whom they had mistaken to be a freshman. The president of the school became angry and abolished the freshman rules. So you sophomores had better be on the lookout for our young-looking teachers, lest the same fate befall you.

By the way, Mr. Carroll Quinn, our good friend, is going to give to each of the first three winning players a book on chess. This ought to be an added incentive to each and every member in the tournament.

* * *

Did you know:

1. In taking pawns, always jump towards the center.

2. Do not develop exclusively on one side.

3. Avoid exchanging Bishops for a Knight early in the game.

4. In selecting a sphere of action always move the pieces where they will command the greatest number of squares, have the greatest freedom of action, where they cannot be readily attacked or driven away, and where they will restrict or delay the opponents development.

* * *

The word Checkmate, used so often to denote a victory, came down to us from the old Indian "Shah maht" meaning the king is dead.

A nine hole golf course has been constructed on the Western Maryland campus. Perhaps we could squeeze one in on our campus, and the boys could take up that game during their free periods.

New wastebaskets have been installed at St. Norbert High School, West de Pere, Wis. The baskets are made of fibre and are three feet high. The next time that we get some new baskets they should be three feet wide for those "punk shots" that always miss the basket by two or three feet.

With the new rule that the students should spend their free periods in the library, it is supposed that the librarians will be doubly busy putting books in their proper places, and collecting those left on the tables by students who were hurrying off to a class.

A fourteen-year-old boy saved a 250-pound man from drowning the other day at Easton, Md. If any of you freshmen would like to get some practice in life-saving of this sort, see Mr. Hoffman of the Junior Class.

Seniors Make Definite Plans For 1935 College Year Book

Annual Will Be Dedicated To Father Joseph Ayg, S.J., Of College Faculty

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 2)

Seniors for the past two years and it was felt that by dedicating their Annual to him the class of 1935 would be able to express to some degree their appreciation for his work in their behalf.

The business staff, under the energetic direction of Frank Wright, has made admirable progress in securing advertisements and even better success is expected now that business is entering upon a new fiscal year. The staff

Chick's Chatter

A. E. C.

Mere Speculation

Now that the holidays have come to an end, we may contemplate more seriously the basketball campaign to be launched by our 'Hounds. Their record up until this writing has been fair, though for the most part spotty. We can commend their play in each of those first games in so much as they gave everything they had in the way of fight and spirit. Nevertheless, it would be very nice indeed if, in the future a little matter like big league opposition will not over-awe and subdue the bearers of the Green and Gray.

I should, at this time, like to relieve my conscience of a small matter which has been troubling me no end these past days. My predecessor in this capacity predicted in a former editorial that Loyola would win the championship of the Maryland Collegiate League. To my mind, he was a trifle hasty and over enthusiastic in making such a statement. His reasoning that all the other league quints were being rebuilt with new and inexperienced players, whereas Loyola has a veteran team, was all well and good; but, nevertheless, Mr. Wright or Wrong had forgotten an essential and important element—the team's temperament.

Loyola should win undoubtedly with such a wealth of veteran material on hand. But will they? That depends entirely on the team and its aforementioned temperament. If the members of the team are willing to sacrifice all personal glory in order that they might play as one co-ordinating unit, I see no reason why they should not emerge State champs. On the other hand, if they should insist trying to outshine each other to the detriment of team play—well, you know the answer to that one! There will be no such tribute as the title, "Champions" attached to their name, if that type of basketball should be played.

Now, mind you, I am not claiming that teamwork has been lacking in the previous games; but, I do say that such a condition is a possibility. You may note that this defect seems to have been the main fault of some of Loyola's recent court aggregations which had begun their seasons with the same cockiness and confidence as the present squad. Remembering the words of Fr. Cerrute, "Verbum sap Satiati," once more my conscience is put to rest.

Team Suffers Casualty

As almost everyone knows by this time, the services of one of the Greyhounds' first string substitutes will not be available any more this year. I am speaking of one, Louis Bellestri, who just recently underwent an appendicitis operation and who is at present convalescing at his home. This is indeed a sad blow to the team and to the plans of Bill Liston, who was using Lou regularly. Let's hope Lou will be able to take to the court again next year and continue where he left off this year.

Here is a parting shot, before I sign off basketball. The Athletic Association has begun a feature which is new here at Loyola; viz., that of raffling off trips to out-of-town games! Indeed, it is a good idea and it certainly accomplishes its purpose of establishing interest in the student body in these games. Do you fellows realize what that means? Do you think the A. A. would have to resort to those means if you had shown a spark of school spirit? Not even considering the games played on the New York trip, the attendance at the home games was deplorable. In previous years the gym was filled at every home game. Don't tell me that a certain so-and-so doesn't like basketball. Well, whether she likes it or not, bring her along—she will enjoy watching a championship team in action.

A Garland to Harlow

It is with great pleasure that we extend our sincere congratulations to Dick Harlow. We, here at Loyola, know well enough how Mr. Harlow has merited beyond question the new position given him by Harvard University. No better man, as far as character and football ability is concerned, could have been obtained anywhere. We are confident that the charges made against him by the "Harvard Crimson" are without foundation, and we are just as confident that the journal will willingly retract its statement when its staff meets Mr. Harlow personally and becomes acquainted with his methods as well as we have here in the Free State. If anyone will bring the Crimson out of its football doldrums, it will be Dick!

Greyhounds In League Debut
Against Mounts At Emmitsburg

Fr. Jacobs Offers Students
Special Rates For Game
On Wednesday Night

Tomorrow night at Emmitsburg the Greyhounds inaugurate their league season in a game with Mt. St. Mary's, a rival whose reputé as their nemesis is well known. Loyola, it seems, never could do well on the Mount's small floor and will very likely find the going as tough as usual. Couple with this the facts that the Mountaineers are most anxious to make Loyola their first victim and that Loyola is eager to be off to a good start, then you can be sure of plenty action in tomorrow night's scramble.

Father Jacobs, who is trying to arouse interest in out-of-town games, has arranged to take a delegation of rooters to the game and back for $1.75. This includes admission to the game. A good number are expected to take advantage of this offer, not only for their own benefit, but for that of the team which needs their every whoop and yell to spur them on. Come on, one and all, let us watch Loyola hurdle its first obstacle to the championship.

Intramural Court Competition
Planned By Athletic Council

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 2)

all should take part in the intramurals, all the players on a team will be required to play at least a part of the game. This time will be determined at the next meeting of the Council.

Equipment

The players themselves will supply their own equipment except for jerseys which will be furnished by the basketball managers. This will aid players, when in the game, to more easily distinguish their team mates.

Coach Bill Liston will either referee the games himself, or if he is unable to do so, will appoint a Varsity squad member to officiate. On days that the Varsity has practice, the games will be on the side court, otherwise the intramuralists will battle on the center court.

Other Sports

The Siac also has announced that intramural volleyball and a boxing tournament will be staged later if there is sufficient demand for them. Those interested in these sports are requested to get in touch with their athletic representatives who will report on the demand for the furtherance of these or any other sports as intramurals.

LOYOLA RESUMES SCHEDULE
BY DEFEATING NORMAL, 56-15

FROSH ALSO BEAT RIVALS

Loyola resumed its basketball schedule after the Christmas vacation last Tuesday night by swamping State Normal 56 to 15.

From the time Will Ferrarini caged a shot from the corner a few seconds after the opening tap till the last whistle, there was never any doubt as to the ultimate victor. The Greyhounds, making their first start since their rather unsuccessful New York trip flashed a passing attack and an eye for the basket which the inexperienced Teachers could not cope with. The first half saw all the Loyola players in fine form. Frank Tanneyhill, veteran center, was especially prominent, showing an almost uncanny eye and doing well on rebounds. The latter part of the first period Coach Liston tried out his reserves, working several combinations, all of which turned in creditable performances.

Improved Passing

The starting combination returned to the floor at the start of the second half and began pumping them in again with monotonous regularity. Captain Colvin who had contented himself principally with feeding in the opening period, found his eye and caged five double deckers in rapid order. Charley Wayson, freshman flash, also showed fine form in this half. While the team gave a remarkable exhibition of shooting, the most pleasing feature of the contest in the opinion of the student body was the improved passing of the club which brought back memories of the days when Coach Liston himself sported a Loyola uniform.

Tanneyhill and Colvin with seven two pointers each led the Greyhounds in scoring. Wheeler, who counted ten of Normal's fifteen points, and Rankin, a clever floor man, were the leaders for the Teachers.

Preliminary Game

In a ragged game, the Freshman defeated Calvert Hall 13 to 10 preliminary to the Varsity encounter. With but two minutes remaining, the score stood 9-8 in the Frosh's favor when Costello and Lentz scored, giving the Loyola youngsters a lead which the High School boys, despite a last minute basket by Maus, could not overcome.

N. Y. Trip Proves Unsuccessful
For Liston's Fighting 'Hounds

Squad Unable To Cope With Talented Opponents In Gotham District

Loyola's trip to New York was not as successful as it might have been, the 'Hounds having been defeated by both St. John's of Brooklyn and City College of New York, two stellar quints.

In a hard fought contest, St. John's registered its third straight triumph of the season at the expense of the Greyhounds by a score of 49-32. Despite the one-sided score, the Redmen were hard pressed to win, and until Captain Colvin was ejected from the game on fouls, Loyola was trailing by only five points and in a good position to come out as victor. Unable to break through an impregnable St. John's defense, Loyola resorted to long shots, the success of which kept them within range of the Brooklyn team.

C. C. N. Y. Game

The following night against a fast-stepping C. C. N. Y. team, the Greyhounds, because of a slow start and despite a second half rally in which they outscored their opponents 16-14, became the forty-second straight team to lose on the home court of the Lavenders. The final score was 32-20. For eighteen and a half minutes of the first half, the metropolitan team did not allow the Greyhounds a basket from the floor, and held a commanding lead of 18-4 at the intermission, that insured them of victory.

Tanneyhill with 14 points and Colvin with 13 were the leading scorers for Loyola on the trip. At the present time, Colvin is setting the pace for the state's scorers.

BOX SCORE
Loyola
Ferrarini	4	3-4	11
Gromacki	1	1-1	3
Colvin	7	0-0	14
Tanneyhill	7	0-0	14
Bossle	0	0-0	0
Wayson	4	0-0	8
Carney	1	0-1	2
Knight	1	2-2	4
Matriccianni	0	0-0	0
Total	25	6-8	56
State Normal
Novey	0	2-2	2
Turke	1	0-0	2
Wheeler	4	2-2	10
Cole	0	1-1	1
Rankin	0	0-1	0
Woronka	0	0-0	0
Total	5	5-6	15

Telephone: UNIVERSITY 3500

GEO. J. STORCK & SON

LUMBER

Sash, Doors, Blinds, Flooring, Wallboard, etc.

2406-18 GREENMOUNT AVENUE

EUGENE JENDREK IS NEW EDITOR OF GREYHOUND

SUCCEEDS ROGER E. LEWIS

Other Members Of Staff To Fill Positions Vacated By Retiring Seniors

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 5)

as Advertising Manager, but there will be a new Circulation Manager in the person of Frank Eastman who succeeds Philip Dougherty. Mr. Dougherty will take over an Associate Editorship along with Jack Herrman who comes up from the News Staff.

In the matter of Departments a complete change will be effective. William McGonigle will chronicle the activities of former Loyola men as Alumni Editor. After much discussion, Thomas Emory has been assigned the Evergreen Reflections column and John Dinan will do the Campus Clippings.

Robert Maguire, Kennard Dill, William O'Donnell, Richard Carey, Charles Fisher, and James McGreevy, having served their apprenticeships, are now members of the News Staff.

In the near future a Chess Department Editor and an entirely new post in the Greyhound, an Exchange Editor, will be appointed, as well as additional News Staff men.

Advertising Campaign

As announced in another place in this issue a drive will be made by the Greyhound for more advertising. By way of encouragement a ten percent commission will be paid to those securing ads. A business Staff will be organized by advertising manager Joseph Mack under the direction of Mr. Vincent P. McCorry, S.J., Business Moderator of the Greyhound.

Meeting of Chemistry Seminar Outlines Schedule of Speakers

Lectures Will Be Held Weekly In Chemistry Lecture Room On Topics Of Interest

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 5)

"Perfumes," J. Leo Martin, '37.
March 18—

"The Chemistry of Respiration," Raymond M. Cunningham, '35.

"Thermodynamics," Jack E. Cochrane, '35.
April 8—

"Radium: Its Characteristics and Uses," Benedict F. Smith, '35.

"The Chemistry of the Blood," James N. Cianos, '35.
May 6—

"Interesting Biochemical Products," Edward L. Molz, '35.

"Heavy Water," Kenneth J. Stallo, '35.

FRESHMAN HOP TO BE HELD IN BALLROOM OF STAFFORD

ROUSTON'S ORCHESTRA

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 1)

shown good judgement, for the band is well-known, having played at other Loyola dances, and also at the Mission dance, two years ago. He has been featured this year at the University of Virginia Alumni dances in Washington. The orchestra, composed of nine players, plays the type of smooth music made popular by Guy Lombardo.

The interclass dance originally scheduled for February the first, has been postponed, in order to give the Freshmen a clear field on that night.

The Freshmen Dance Committee, consisting of class officers and representatives from each section, is in charge of the sale of the tickets.

Dean O'Malley To Test Dramatic Ability Of Aspiring Thespians

Talent Displayed In Tryouts Will Determine The Future Of Dramatics At Loyola

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 1)

ing interpretations of the selected parts. No doubt they will be of varying natures, which should perhaps bring to light a new Antony, never imagined before. No definite plans have been promulgated concerning a production, since everything depends on the ability displayed in the tryouts.

THOMAS F. CARNEY

Restaurant

23 LIGHT STREET

CALVERT 5739

Baltimore, Maryland

Did you ever notice..in a roomful of people..the difference between one cigarette and another..and wonder why Chesterfields have such a pleasing aroma

Many things have to do with the aroma of a cigarette... the kind of tobaccos they are made of... the way the tobaccos are blended... the quality of the cigarette paper.

IT takes good things to make good things.

Someone said that to get the right aroma in a cigarette, you must have the right quantity of Turkish tobacco—and that's right.

But it is also true that you get a pleasing aroma from the home-grown tobaccos... tobaccos filled with Southern Sunshine, sweet and ripe.

When these tobaccos are all blended and cross-blended the Chesterfield way, balanced one against the other, you get a flavor and fragrance that's different from other cigarettes.

